

HELPING YOU FIND YOUR VOICE AS THE LEADER OF LEARNING!
RAISE YOUR SCHOOL FROM GOOD TO GREAT. YOU WILL LEVERAGE
THE TRUST FACTOR TO MOVE THE BAR!

What will today's students achieve in their future? Their world will change at quantum speeds. How are you preparing them for a world you cannot even yet conceive? What if every student voiced who they are as a learner, amplified their strengths, and had the confidence to spotlight their learning under the big lights?

How will this impact their legacy in 30 years? And how will this kind of engagement impact your school's success? Dr. Kathleen Miller is committed to helping leaders dream big to create their 21st century school. She teaches and consults leaders and their faculty to launch their school so students and teachers transform learning for the 21st century. She is an adjunct professor for educational leadership at the Concordia Principal Internship Program and she is an educational consultant. She is an engaging public speaker, a facilitator and a mentor who will help you achieve your dream. Kathleen has walked this path! She has served as:

- An elementary school principal
- She closed one school and merged two extraordinary faculties into an award-winning Lighthouse School for Leadership, based on Stephen R. Covey's book, "The Leader in Me."
- Served as the President of an Educational Steam Foundation
- Facilitated CCSS curriculum as a leader, and she is an expert literacy coach.

She spent 13 years as a literacy expert teaching for NLU and SHSU

She is passionate about mentoring school leaders to unlock the root causes of cultural barriers that are roadblocks to learning so that they become "leaders of learners". She helps administrators invest in themselves so that their student, and teacher community build trusting cultures of excellence. Your voices will change the world.
